DanceWorks

CHICAGO

A creative incubator that fosters a diverse next generation of dance artists, DanceWorks Chicago is committed to building a foundation for early career artists by providing a laboratory from which dancers and choreographers propel themselves and the art form to a new level of artistry through training, collaboration, mentorship, and performance.

DWC is a unique part of Chicago's cultural landscape, achieving excellence in the studio, in the community, on stage, and behind-the-scenes while taking an active role in the forward movement of the art form. Our visionary programming empowers artists to cultivate and take ownership of their unique voice.

Dance360 offers a holistic approach to dance training and artistic development. Movers and makers need a diverse set of tools to be successful in the studio, on stage, and in life. Dance360 offerings help artists identify, develop, and utilize these tools on their journey through dance.

ChoreoLab provides a one-week residency for dancemakers to create on dancers who are hand-picked to contribute to the creative process. Days start with morning technique class followed by rehearsal, coaching, and sharing. Thank you for joining us to see and support new work and courageous artists!
